

PERFECT DENTISTRY

Without Fear or Pain at Moderate Prices

"NAP-A-MINIT"TAKES THE PAIN AWAY

—makes dental work easy for the patient and permits the doctor to do his best work.

Any operation on the teeth can be done with "Nap-A-Minit." You need not fear the dental chair any longer.

Read the Below Testimonial From One of Our Satisfied Patients.

I had 8 teeth extracted by Dr. Weidlich's "Nap-a-Minit" without any pain or inconvenience whatever. I heartily recommend Dr. Weidlich's "Nap-a-Minit" to any one suffering with teeth trouble.

RAYMOND TYLER,

15 Seeley St.

Sets of Teeth	$7.50
Bridgework, per Tooth	$3.00
Porcelain Crowns	$3.00
Gold Fillings	$1.00
Silver Fillings	75c

Drs. WEIDLICH & ALVORD

CITIZENS' BLDG., MAIN AND CANNON STS.

—THE OFFICE OF ADVANCED DENTISTRY—

OFFER REWARD FOR FACTS ON SECRET OF MAN'S EVOLUTIONSeeking Truth and Would Pay for Valuable Information
Seek to Prove Disputed Theories.

Washington, Jan. 27.—One thousand dollars is offered for information that may show how evolution takes place, in an announcement by the American Genetic Association.

There is no longer any room for doubt that evolution does take place, according to this body of scientists. But there is still debate on the question of just how it works, and to settle this question more information is needed.

Such information is believed by C. L. Redfield, a Chicagoan, livestock breeder, college student and naturalist, and in order to enlist the cooperation of these people he has offered through the Journal of Heredity, organ of the American Genetic Association, five rewards of $200 each. He will pay $200 for evidence that any one of the two or three hundred extraordinary great men or women which represented, on the average, four generations to a century. He will pay another $200 for evidence that any one of the two or three hundred extraordinary great men or women which represented, on the average, three generations to a century. Redfield holds that intellectual greatness cannot occur in conjunction with a series of early reproductions, and these offers are intended to draw out information on that point.

Members of the American Genetic Association for the last year have been investigating this question, and have found that most great men come from old families. They have been able to discover but two cases of eminent men where the ancestry represented, on the average, as little as 33 years to a generation. These are William the Conqueror and Frederick the Great. If there are any other great men in the history of the world who were the products of several generations of early reproduction, Mr. Redfield wants to find out the circumstances.

In his view of evolution, every animal inherits some of the results of work done by its parents, and this leads to the belief that the parents, which are worked hardest and longest produce the best offspring. If the parents are never developed by work, he thinks their offspring will have no chance of being superior. He accordingly offers $200 for evidence from livestock breeding which will show that where the parents made acquisitions which were distinctly below the standard, in respect to work performed, the offspring surpassed the parents. He believes, indeed, that the offspring will fall below the standard of the breed, in any case where the requirements of the parents were distinctly below the standard. Accordingly, he will pay $200 for evidence that offspring ever failed to fall below the standard in such a case.

Finally, he will pay $200 if it can be shown, for any group of animals, that the amount of improvement or decline in animal powers was not, as nearly as can be determined by the actual records, exactly proportional to the amount of acquisition by ancestors above or below the normal or standard. The last three cases can be investigated to good advantage in the records of race horses and dairy cows, since in each case it is easy to determine just what the performance of the parents was, and also just what the performance of the offspring was.

Men of great ability rise from common stock," says Mr. Redfield; "many horses of the present day trot much faster than any horse was capable of trotting 50 years ago; cows frequently produce many more pounds of milk in seven days than was the utmost capability of any of their great-granddams, and dogs under test in field trials show more 'class' than any of their ancestors. The claim is made that every case of this kind arose by the inheritance of excess development acquired before reproducing, and that it is impossible to increase the mental or physical powers of any kind of animal in any other way than by the inheritance of such acquisitions. If any one can show the contrary, he can capture the money."

The American Genetic Association of this city, which will receive all evidence submitted, will also furnish information as to the exact points which should be investigated, to throw light on the way in which evolution takes place.

rents are never developed by work, he thinks their offspring will have no chance of being superior. He accordingly offers $200 for evidence from livestock breeding which will show that where the parents made acquisitions which were distinctly below the standard, in respect to work performed, the offspring surpassed the parents. He believes, indeed, that the offspring will fall below the standard of the breed, in any case where the requirements of the parents were distinctly below the standard. Accordingly, he will pay $200 for evidence that offspring ever failed to fall below the standard in such a case.

Finally, he will pay $200 if it can be shown, for any group of animals, that the amount of improvement or decline in animal powers was not, as nearly as can be determined by the actual records, exactly proportional to the amount of acquisition by ancestors above or below the normal or standard. The last three cases can be investigated to good advantage in the records of race horses and dairy cows, since in each case it is easy to determine just what the performance of the parents was, and also just what the performance of the offspring was.

Men of great ability rise from common stock," says Mr. Redfield; "many horses of the present day trot much faster than any horse was capable of trotting 50 years ago; cows frequently produce many more pounds of milk in seven days than was the utmost capability of any of their great-granddams, and dogs under test in field trials show more 'class' than any of their ancestors. The claim is made that every case of this kind arose by the inheritance of excess development acquired before reproducing, and that it is impossible to increase the mental or physical powers of any kind of animal in any other way than by the inheritance of such acquisitions. If any one can show the contrary, he can capture the money."

The American Genetic Association of this city, which will receive all evidence submitted, will also furnish information as to the exact points which should be investigated, to throw light on the way in which evolution takes place.

rents are never developed by work, he thinks their offspring will have no chance of being superior. He accordingly offers $200 for evidence from livestock breeding which will show that where the parents made acquisitions which were distinctly below the standard, in respect to work performed, the offspring surpassed the parents. He believes, indeed, that the offspring will fall below the standard of the breed, in any case where the requirements of the parents were distinctly below the standard. Accordingly, he will pay $200 for evidence that offspring ever failed to fall below the standard in such a case.

Finally, he will pay $200 if it can be shown, for any group of animals, that the amount of improvement or decline in animal powers was not, as nearly as can be determined by the actual records, exactly proportional to the amount of acquisition by ancestors above or below the normal or standard. The last three cases can be investigated to good advantage in the records of race horses and dairy cows, since in each case it is easy to determine just what the performance of the parents was, and also just what the performance of the offspring was.

Men of great ability rise from common stock," says Mr. Redfield; "many horses of the present day trot much faster than any horse was capable of trotting 50 years ago; cows frequently produce many more pounds of milk in seven days than was the utmost capability of any of their great-granddams, and dogs under test in field trials show more 'class' than any of their ancestors. The claim is made that every case of this kind arose by the inheritance of excess development acquired before reproducing, and that it is impossible to increase the mental or physical powers of any kind of animal in any other way than by the inheritance of such acquisitions. If any one can show the contrary, he can capture the money."

The American Genetic Association of this city, which will receive all evidence submitted, will also furnish information as to the exact points which should be investigated, to throw light on the way in which evolution takes place.

HEADS CRUSHED, FIND MOTHER AND DAUGHTER DEAD

New York, Jan. 27.—With their heads crushed and their clothes half torn from their bodies, Mrs. Rebecca Pullman, wife of a retired insurance Gertrude Bazell, were found murdered last night at 7 o'clock in a furnished room at No. 774 Dawson street, the Bronx. Under a bed was found a blood stained axe, while a few feet away lay a small hatchet, covered with clotted hair.

Mrs. Pullman's husband, Nathan, could not be found, and after the police of the Simpson street station had learned that he had left the house at 3 o'clock with more than $5,000 in cash in his possession a general alarm was sent out for him. The Pullmans, who for several years lived in the Bronx, recently went to Chicago, but returned to New York two weeks ago to attend the birthday of a grandson in Astoria, La. They rented a room from Elizabeth Palmer at the Dawson street address, a modern three-story building, handsomely furnished. Mrs. Pullman saw little of them for they had three married daughters in New York, and most of their time was spent in visiting these.

"I Am Going for a Physician." Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock Pullman sauntered leisurely downstairs and to the street. He passed Mrs. Palmer in the hallway, and, turning to her, said: "My wife is ill and I am going out for a physician."

She waited for some time for the husband's return and the calling of the physician, and about 5 o'clock started to go to the room of the Pullmans, but changed her mind, knowing the daughter was with the elder woman.

At 7 o'clock when neither Pullman nor the physician had been heard from, she went to go to the room of the couple on the second floor to see if she could be of any assistance to the sick woman. She knocked twice on the door, and, receiving no response, opened it.

On the bed lay the elder woman, who was 50 years old, and near the door her daughter, who was 25. Mrs. Pullman ran to a telephone and notified the police of the Simpson street station and the detectives of the Bronx bureau. Police Captain Shevlin called a neighboring physician as soon as he reached the house.

Attacked in Her Sleep. From Mrs. Pullman's position it was judged that she had been attacked while she slept, and was not so seriously injured by the first blow that she was not able to fight her assailant. The upper part of her clothing had been torn away, as if the murderer had held her down while she struggled. The detectives were slightly disarranged. On both sides of her head were long, deep gashes. The upper part of her head had been crushed as though with the back of an axe.

The position in which the daughter's body lay was such that the police concluded she was set upon as she was coming through the door. In all the vicinity they hunted, but they had come to visit her mother and took the murderer by surprise.

She could not possibly have been able to struggle. Evidently she had been knocked unconscious by the first blow, for there were several people in the lower part of the house, but no one heard an outcry.

Mrs. Bazell's head was crushed in much the same manner as that of her mother, but her wounds indicated that the slayer had used the hatchet instead of the axe. The axe lay down within two feet of the door.

As soon as the bodies had been removed the police began a search for Pullman. They learned that Mrs. Bazell had lived with her husband, Jacob, a No. 782 Prospect avenue. The other daughters of the couple are Mrs. Ida Gabbe of Astoria, La., whose husband Herman is a decorator, and Mrs. Mina Kasinitz of No. 860 East One Hundred and Sixty-fourth street.

Came for a Family Reunion. Alvin, the son of the Gabbes, was three years old last Sunday, and the Pullmans came to attend his birthday party. Incidentally they were to have a family reunion.

It was learned at Mrs. Bazell's home that she had gone to spend the afternoon with her mother. Mrs. Pullman had been to see a physician Tuesday, who told her she did not have long to live, and she brooded over the fact. It was agreed among the daughters that they would spend much of their time with the mother.

Mrs. Gabbe told the police that their father and mother had been married for 26 years and lived a happy life.

"They were always together," she said, "and seemed to enjoy each other's company better than that of outsiders. They did not leave our home at Astoria until late Sunday night. At the time they were in the best of spirits and promised to make us another visit during the present week."

Say Pullman Had $5,000.

The daughters of the Pullmans said they knew that their father had $5,000 in cash in large bills and some bills of smaller denomination with him. When the murder room was searched not a cent was found save small amounts in the purses of the women. Mrs. Bazell wore several hundred dollars' worth of jewelry and Mrs. Pullman had several diamond rings on a dresser. These were not touched by the murderers.

The police went to the home of every physician in the neighborhood to inquire if Pullman had been there, and when they learned he had not a general alarm was sent out and the police of Chicago notified to watch all incoming trains.

A boy living in the neighborhood said he saw Pullman come down the steps of the house in which he roomed, look about him for a short time and then walk slowly down Dawson street.

A score of detectives under Acting Captain Andrew White of the Bronx bureau made a hurried trip to every saloon and drug store along the thoroughfare, but no trace of him could be found. In a house on the corner near Mrs. Palmer's home no one could be found who had even seen Pullman leave the house.

Believes He Has Gone to Chicago. Other detectives were rushed to railroad stations, ferries, and steam-

Remnant Week Reductions

- 10c Turkish Towels, good size,—2 for 15c while they last
- 10c Percales, 36 inches wide, stripes and 6 1/2c figures—at
- 15c Kimona Crepes, 30 inches wide, in 10c neat designs—at
- 9c Bordered Curtain Scrim, 36 inches, 6 1/2c good patterns—at
- $1.00 Storm Serges, 54 inches wide, in all 65c good colors—at
- 15c Fancy White Madras, 34-inch for 10c Waists and Dresses
- 50c Single Bed Sheets, seamless, 54x90 35c inches—at
- 75c Fine Muslin Sheets, 81x90, seamless—60c at
- $1.50 Marseilles Bed Spreads, large $1.00 size, good patterns—at
- $3.50 Fine Satin Bed Spreads, large $2.50 size, splendid quality
- $2.50 Plaid Blankets, fine quality cotton and wool, large size—$1.75
- 15c Huck Towels, large size, plain and 25c striped—sale price

All on Main Floor, Rear.

DORSEN'S

MAIN, ELM & MIDDLE STS.

Men! A Great "Choice of the House" Sale of OvercoatsFor FRIDAY and SATURDAY

None reserved. Any Overcoat in stock or in windows may be selected at these prices.

Choice of any Man's or Young Man's Overcoat, formerly $15 to $20—Sale Price

$10

Choice of any Man's or Young Man's Overcoat, formerly $10 to $15—Sale Price

$7Boys, Too

Choice of any Boy's Overcoat or Mackinaw, formerly up to $12 for

$3, $4, $5A Reminder for Men!*Step Lively, Please, If You Want Your Share of these Splendid*68c Shirts

If you've seen the shirts, the reminder is quite unnecessary—for no man who has seen them has passed them up.

Made of fine imported Madras and Percale, in handsome designs, and the best pleated effects. Also, some extra values in satine shirts among them.

Come on Friday if you can—on Saturday if you must—but don't fail to buy while the chance is yours.

All $1.00 to $2.00 Shirts—while the sale lasts—in all sizes from 13 to 18—at the special price

68c

Men's Store, Main Floor.

BLANCHE SWEET AT WEST END

Tonight the West End theatre, on State street, near Clinton avenue, presents Blanche Sweet in "The Secret Sin," a five act Paramount.

In a career that has been remarkable from every point of view, Miss Blanche Sweet now approaches the height of her powers as a photoplay star. Nothing she has done previously on the screen is marked with so much artistry, grace and finish as her performance of "Twin Sisters" in the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play company's production, "The Secret Sin," by Margaret Turnbull.

In this photo-play we have the combination of a great star and a great play. "The Secret Sin" is a bitter pronouncement against the drug evil and the trade in opium against which the United States government for years has waged an unceasing battle.

With all the skill of the Lasky artistic forces centered on this photo-play, "The Secret Sin" from the viewpoint of photography, attention to minute detail and sheer sincerity will take its place with the masterpieces of the screen. As Miss Sweet appears as "twins" there are episodes in the play when she appears in two characters simultaneously.

Tomorrow matinee, and evening, Denman Thompson's "The Old Homestead," a five act Paramount with Frank Losee, Louise Huff and Creighton Hale. Tel. 2328-13.—Adv.

AMERICAN REPORTS SERBIANS STARVING

London, Jan. 27.—The German flight Lieutenant, Bohme, whose death was reported yesterday in German official messages, is identified here as Lieutenant Boelke, who was mentioned in the Berlin official report of Jan. 18 as having brought down his eighteenth enemy aeroplane. This fact was said to have been rivalled by his fellow aviator, Lieutenant Immelmann, both of whom received the highest of the German military decorations, the Order Pour Le Merite.

Alleged "Peepers" Fined in Court

Duncan MacKenzie, 27, of 1248 Main street, a guard at the Union Metallic Cartridge Co., took a short cut through Columbus place early this morning on his way home. He said he was taken sick in the alleyway and leaned against a building occupied by the Capelli family. Miss Mary Capelli about to retire saw the form of a man outside her window and she called her brother who ran out and captured MacKenzie. In city court today it was charged that MacKenzie was a "Peeping Tom," and he was fined $5 and costs for breach of the peace.

President Wilson will leave Washington for New York tonight, instead of at noon today, as originally planned.

WEST END STATE ST., NEAR CLINTON AVE. Tel. 2328-13

TONIGHT
BLANCHE SWEET
in
"THE SECRET SIN"

TOMORROW
MATINEE AND NIGHT
"The Old Homestead"
FIVE ACT PARAMOUNT

THIRTIETH ANNUAL SCOTTISH CONCERT AND DANCE

IN HONOR OF THE Birthday of Robert Burns
The Casino, State Street
Friday, Jan. 28th, 1916
BIGGER AND BETTER THAN EVER
CONCERT AT 7:45
DANCE AT 10:30
A 24-b

Farmer Want Ads. One Cent a Word

There Can Be No Question About The Genuine And Original DUFFY'S Pure Malt Whiskey

when the following three points of distinction are observed:

- 1.—That the neck strap over the cork is unbroken. It's the seal of security.
- 2.—That our name and monogram are blown in the bottle. It's a certificate of merit.
- 3.—That the label bears our trade-mark of the "Old Chemist," and signature of the Company. It's a sign of the genuine.

Refuse Substitutes

Only because an occasional unscrupulous dealer, unmindful of your health, and for the sake of greater profit, sometimes attempts to sell inferior so-called "tonics" and "malts," in place of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey when called for, do we find these precautions necessary. But when you are weak or run down, or have stomach trouble, no imitation can take the place of Duffy's; and that is why you should be particular to Fac-simile of bottle greatly reduced

"Get Duffy's and Keep Well."
Sold in SEALED BOTTLES ONLY. Beware of imitations

NOTE Get Duffy's from your local druggist, grocer or dealer $1.00 per bottle. If he cannot supply you, write us. Useful household booklet free.

The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

Y. M. C. A. Educational Secretaries of New England to Meet Here

The educational secretaries of the Y. M. C. A. in New England will meet in conference at the Bridgeport association tomorrow, beginning at 10 a. m. Among those expected to be present are George B. Hodge of the international committee of the Y. M. C. A.; F. P. Speare of Boston; F. S. Willis of Worcester; John G. Olmstead of Providence; A. O. Washburn of New Britain; C. T. Timble of Pittsfield; W. W. Night of Manchester, N. H.; H. S. Stuart of Hartford; C. S. Cleahy of Springfield college; and S. S. Keeney of Bridgeport.

Starvation Caused Montenegrin Defeat, Says King Nicholas

Paris, Jan. 27.—"My presence and that of my family and my government here," said King Nicholas, of Montenegro, to a correspondent of the Journal in Lyons, "shows my unbounded confidence that France will protect from calumny. I do not need to make any apology. My grandson, Prince Humbert, Crown Prince of Italy, when I saw him in Rome the other day, asked me why I was and I replied 'Your grandfather is a beaten man.' The child, saddened, then asked, 'You had nothing to eat in your country?' Thus my 11-year-old grandson summed up the causes of our defeat better than the diplomats and the chancellors have done."

B UNION LABEL HATS U
BUY LYFORD BROTHERS USE
Y East Side and West End E

ONE KILLED, SEVERAL INJURED IN TORNADO

Fort Smith, Ark., Jan. 27.—At least one life was lost, several persons injured and a dozen houses destroyed in a tornado that last night struck Hartsboro, about 40 miles from Fort Smith. Gowen, another town, several miles distant, also was hit but owing to wire trouble no particulars of the damage there were available early today.

Tony Annanias and a companion took refuge under a church when they saw the storm approaching which they felt the building moving from its foundation they tried to get out. Annanias was ground under the heavy timbers and instantly killed; his companion escaped.

ENGLISH WOMEN EXPELLED

Berlin, Jan. 27.—Fifty English women, who have been employed in various occupations in Berlin, have been ordered to leave the country not later than Feb. 8. The authorities say that this action is taken in reprisal for the expulsion of German women who had been held in England.

THE PRETTIEST FACE

and the most beautiful hands are often disgraced by an unwhitely wart. It can easily be removed in a few days without pain by using Cyrus Wart Remover. For sale only at the Cyrus Pharmacy, 413 - airtel Ave.